“ Happy late birthday man, we miss and love you. I will see you one day again I promise.

Hunter Brown - April 19, 2022 at 02:41 PM

“ I moved to buxton around 2011-2012. me and my brother were walking the street and we seen alex playing basketball. We talked to him and we became best friends. I was an annoying little kid then but we did everything together. Stayed up all night playing video games, beating difficult hunting games and alex teaching me the 864 area code. We would run in the rain to see him and talk for 5 minutes and he was getting sicker and sicker. We had to love away then and we got news of the tumour. We prayed and prayed and one day on March 10th my mom and step dad sat us down and told us that alex had passed. I had broke down so bad and alex will always have a place in my mind and soul and I would do anything to just see him for 10 seconds again. We miss you alex. Rest in peace

“ The best part of the rhythm section. Always running, doing something. So deeply invested in everything. He really shared life. Goofball. He never gave up. The big gift from Big Al: acceptance. He took us as we are, and showed us how to loosen up and have fun. That last hug we shared--it was his gift to me, comforting me. What joy! What care! What crazy, goofy, amazing love! I don't know what tomorrow will bring, but I know Alex is waiting for us. And I know he can't wait to share everything with us. His gifts will continue to rain on us all. I am so thankful that he was here. Teach on, Alex. Play on, Drums. Let's find the beat together. Let's race to that finish line.

In Christ's love,
~Megan
