“ Thanksgiving is a day to reflect and be thankful. But today I'm heartbroken because of the loss of Cade. My thoughts and prayers go out to Josie. She was the center of his life. And she loved her "Pop's". He always referred to me as cuz. We were cousins we were family. He always let me know that was special. He never pretended to me be some one he wasn which is one of the things I admired about him. He was feisty (lol) but had a big heart. I am thankful we got to watch our daughters play together. I'm proud be your cousin and friend.

“ My life changed forever in the summer of '78, when I finally got the courage to ask a beautiful neighbor for a date.
We both were divorced, for children she had one;
I honestly don't remember who I fell in love with first, her or her son.
This child so cute, a little cotton top was he;
he quickly stole my heart from me.
Born in May of 1976, he was only two, but he grew up so very quick.
God blessed me with Cade; in my life for 36 years,
and I see his smiling face, as I look through my tears.
His life here with us ended on November 24th,
when God called him home, and opened Heaven's door.
Cade was my son, not by blood but through Christ's blood and I know I will see him again, because of God's love.

God bless you Cade; I'll always love you. Thanks for being my son.

Love, Norris
