“ Danny was a good man, a Christian man, and a good steward of the environment. Danny loved God, family, and country. I can say that I have lost a good friend, but truthfully I can say without a doubt, I know where he is now and forever more. With all of the environmental issues that we worked on over the years, it always was followed up with conversations around family and God.

To Danny's family: Stand proud and may God bless you during the days ahead. I am proud to have known Danny and proud to have called him a friend. One thing that Danny and I shared often was: "The truth will set you free". Danny was a man of truth, and today, Danny has been set free... no more suffering and pain!
