“ When Greg and Dale were both very young, mom and dad would sometimes drop me off to spend time with them.. one morning, Franklin patiently explained the importance of how to put on socks.. I know that sounds silly.. but, I remembered that advice.. and I still do it everyday.. rest in peace, uncle Franklin .. you were a remarkable man..

“ I grew up with Dale and Greg. Frank had a letter from FDR framed and on display. FDR, president of the US when Frank was born, sent all parents the letters for children born on his birthday.

Frank also had a trophy denoting his Hole in 1 during a company tournament. The story went, Frank told his friends that he would ace the hole. And, did.
