“ Pop had such a passion for cars and trucks, especially old classics. One of the more recent memories is when I came to visit with my new Bo, Andy Hildreth last year. The two of them hit it off so well because Andy was a former Auto Mechanic. I loved watching the two of them enjoy spending time getting to know one another. Pop had a great sense of humor and loved sharing stories. He had a phrase he used often, "Let me tell you something". You knew it was going to be a good story.

Pop was determined to make it to my wedding in May, even though he was not well. I'm so glad he and his new Son-in-law Andy got along so well. Missing Pop so much already.
