“ Dear Mrs. Alexander, I just found out about Mr. Alexander's passing. I was a former student of his at Seneca High. He will always be my favorite teacher. He was such a caring man who loved God and always showed it. The last time I saw him and met you was at a Jeff and Sherry Easter Concert. You will always be in my prayers and I never will forget him. We will see him again. Love to you always, Jimmy Lewis

“ My uncle Lindel was a wonderful man. He was very smart and could do and fix almost anything. He was kind and considerate and lived his life with great Christian integrity and values. When I was young he taught me all kinds of things including my first lessons in business. I was glad to just help him, but he used the opportunity to not only just give me spending money but also to teach me the relationship of work and income making me keep up with my hours and paying me a small amount. Valuable lessons to a young boy. We spent countless days together doing everything from cutting firewood, to tending cattle, to working in his shop, to building his cabin at the millplace. I was with him as he built every part of the cabin. But the most vivid memory was how considerate and helpful he was to others. He visited my grandfather every day, and I mean every day as long as he was alive. After my dad passed away he either called or stopped by to check on my mom every day. He always kept an eye on my house and my cousin's house as he went in and out of the Millplace. A life well lived! I was fortunate to have him in my life!

“ Of the faculty from two high schools and three universities I’ve attended, on the undergraduate and graduate levels, few faculty have left an educational mark on me that I still remember and I’m proud to say that James Alexander was one of them. Though his influence, I won the 1971 Horticultural contest at Seneca High and I still remember his wisdom on plants, “A weed id anything that makes a nuisance of itself.” Rest in Peace, Mr. Alexander
