“ Harold came to work at the Tribble Center about 25 years ago. I hired him as our Maintenance Coordinator. He could fix, build or invent just about anything. In fact he had one invention that he patented. It was a special kind of walking cane. Although Harold worked for me, truth is, we were friends and just happened to work at the same place. Harold was big-hearted. I never heard him use a bad word. He always spoke kindly of everyone. He loved his wife Faye and his daughters and grandchildren. He was most proud of all of their accomplishments. I spent a lot of time in his shop learning how to repair small wooden items. He had special tools and could do all kinds of little jobs. I proudly own a few things he built for me. Sometimes if we were lucky, and it was a cold day, Faye would bring us a cup of coffee and a slice of something she'd baked. Those were fun times. I'll miss my ol' buddy!. I'll see you again

“ Harold and I were almost 30 years apart, but he and I got along like best friends, I have so many great memories with him, playing golf, and working on stuff and sometimes just eating together, I have never met anyone who was so talented with his hands, just wish I could have known him longer so I could learn more from him, he really cared for me and never was scared to show it, his heart was the biggest part of him, I will miss him greatly, he always had a joke or something funny to make me laugh, one of his favorite jokes was "it was so hot today, I saw a dog chasing a rabbit and they were both walking"
