“ In my loving memories Jeryl will always be. I didn't know him very well but he is part of my family and i love him very much. I do wish i could have gotten to know him better than i did but he did always use to comment on my facebook posts and say how pretty I was. But it does help to know that he is in a better place now and thats where god wanted him right now and he will always be watching over his whole family. I will always love you and you will always be in my heart.

“ *Daddy,
I know you are in paradise with the Lord, where suffering and pain does not exist. You were my best friend and I always felt your love in the hugs of your arms around me. From 3,000 miles away our weekly talks on the phone lasted hours at times. In the thirteen years you have lived in South Carolina you and I always looked forward to seeing one another every vacation I had away from work. The 17 flights and a cross country drive I've taken from California to come see you have been the best travels of my life. I'm gonna miss feeding the deer, sitting on the back porch drinking coffee and sharing our lives with one another. I treasure my memories and all that you have taught me. The funny stories of the past when you were growing up have brought countless hours of laughter and the tough times you experienced shared have given me perspective in life. I am thankful you taught me how to be strong. I love you and just like you always told me. I will always be daddy's girl!*
