“Nana was the the best friend and mother figure that as a parent I knew. She was so selfless and honest that my guidance counselors always was like you need to listen to your grandmother. She always took up for me best she could growing up. Loyalty should have been her first name. Nana Bannatyne fe fi finana, and her saying "what bobby" in her accent at times never ceased to make us all smile. She taught for 30 years and then was a substitute and helped so many kids. It's part of why I think she was so strong willed and quiet at times, for she was so wise and knew how to listen, understand, and then help who she could. Jesus was what kept her going her last couple years and today I know that she would tell me to tighten my belt, comb my hair, and brush my teeth. Losing her was one of the hardest times of my life cause she understood me unlike I ever knew cause she always knew when I needed encouragement, space, or simply more clothes hangers for the line to hang clothes on depending on what was washed if I wanted to actually do what I should have everyday, called chores. She taught me to be resilient under the most bizarre and terrible times by her actions not her words per say. Failing wasn't a option for her and in the end Jesus was what brought her peace and it's why I can't help but believe she's somewhere called Home that she sacrificed so much to earn through strife and pain, as we all do, until the truth of Jesus shows and explains how easy it is to be given God's promise and His of salvation. Nana I love you and I'm still trying to become what you last asked of me, I hope your not disappointed calluses you are the reason I have so much effort for the sake of Love and family. I miss you Nana and your smile and all that God made so unique and beautiful in you. These happy and sad tears years later are cause you touched my heart and taught me so much more than I could ever tell you. Giving up in life ain't a option and you be sure to know I'm finally able to say HAPPY MOTHERS DAY NANA. WE ALL LOVE YOU!

“ Joan was one of the sweetest ladies to ever touch this earth. May God give Bobby, Jan, and Joan's entire family the comfort to see you are in heaven now even though you will be missed so very much here on earth. God has received a very special angel. We love and will miss you Joan. Love always, Martine Oehling and children (Alison and Jonathan), Patricia Smith, and Warren Smith
