“ Junior,

We are so sorry we were not able to attend any of the memorial services for Kylie. What a beautiful young lady she was. We know you were so very proud of her. If words could somehow make you feel better we would fill the page to ease your pain. Our hearts are broken for you and your family. Please know that you are in our thoughts and in our every prayer. We pray that God will give you strength and comfort now and in the days ahead. God bless you!

“ Dear Junior, Kim and Tana,
I was devastated to learn about Kylie’s car accident.
While I’m sure it sometimes feels like you all will never be able to recover from losing her, please know that you will someday pull out of this. You all have the help and support of your friends and family, and we all know what courageous people you are.
You all have my sympathy, but more importantly, you have my love, respect and friendship.
Wishing you the best,

It's hard not to have a great time when you're with someone who has such a bright and outgoing personality like she did. She could light up any room. God must have needed her for something awfully special in order to take her from us so soon, and I have to believe she is having the time of her life surrounded by beautiful wings. She was a wonderful young woman, and a joy to have in my class. I cannot remember a day that she didn't make me smile in some way. My favorite was watching the special twist she added when playing Titania, queen of the fairies, in Midsummer Night's Dream. Who else would have thought to include the song "Baracuda" in a Shakespeare play? =) Only you, Kylie!

KE

I am crying for you today. After eight years I am still grieving like I lost you a minute ago. You will never be forgotten. I think of you every hour of every day. I am lost without you. There will never be anyone in my heart like you are. Another child would never replace you. I have many memories I can tell others for years and years to come. You will be talked about and remembered until I die. Never forgotten. I can't wait to see you again in heaven. Some days I feel I can't go on and then I remind myself that you would want me to keep living. I know poppa is with you. What a joy he had to experience when he passed and stood in front of his sweet granddaughter. I miss you both so much. Life will never be the same. I love you baby.

“ We were lucky to have been part of Kylie's life. She was so full of excitement and wonder. We were fortunate to have her visit Catherine when we moved to NY. We took her into Canada, saw Niagara Falls, rode the Maid of the Mist, bought crazy animal hats (she tried on all before deciding:)) and had the best time. She could make you smile:)

May God heal all of those that Kylie has left behind and know that she IS the brightest star in sky. We will miss you:))##imported-begin##Christy Vukelic##imported-end##

“ I am so sorry to hear of your loss. I read about this and knew that I had to reach out to the family. Losing someone is difficult whether it is foreseen or tragic, but the Bible gives us hope for the near future. At John 5:28, 29 it says, "The hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out." Yes, very soon we will be able to see our loved ones again here on the earth. I have a Bible-based brochure I would like to send to you. It has helped many in my own family and countless others to cope. If you are interested, just send me an e-mail and I will send it off as soon as possible. Once again, I would like to express my sincere condolences.##imported-begin##Arin Cook##imported-end##
