“ I first met Lynn when I worked at Jantzen in Seneca. She was such a sweet lady and always the same when you saw her. Some of my greatest memories of Lynn was going over to Eugenia Moss house and Lynn would play the piano and we would all gather around and sing . I know that she is in her heavenly home playing that grand piano ! She will be missed but not forgotten. Prayers for you all at this difficult time . Carolyn Sullivan–Spight

When I heard Lynns passing it gave me a feeling of sadness and loneliness. I was never around Lynn all that much, but what attached us happened in 1945. That was the year that I started school in Walhalla. We were in the 5th grade, Mrs Stoudemires room. If our teacher had to leave the room she left Lynn in charge. She believed in Lynn, but for some ur rowdy boys it was time to play. Lynn never told on us or get us in trouble. My love for Lynn started at that time in my life. Down through the years when I heard something about Lynn it was always good. If there was ever a popular lady in all of Walhalla, it had to be Lynn. She will be missed by her many friends that knew her as a special person.

I know that heaven is sweeter today because she's there. I know you girls will miss her terribly; just know in your hearts how much she was loved by so many. I hope it comforts you to know that Betty and she are there together and will wait for the two of you.*

Lynn was one of many of my favorite cousins. Of the wonderful memories I have, reunions are among the fondest. I feel certain that I will never forget Lynn sitting down at the piano and playing some tunes. As they grew livelier, different ones would take to the "dance floor" and clog until the rafters shook. It was so much fun! When I learned that Lynn had died, I thought THAT'S the day the music died. From now on, I'll have a new explanation for thunder.
