“ It breaks my heart to read this . Mark was working at Ingles when i started working there a few years ago . I saw this man in the parking lot changing from his work shirt to a regular shirt and I wondered why . After a few times seeing this Nosey me ask him about it and he told me that he left there and went to dialysis, I could not imagine working and dialysis. We became good friends and I always looked forward to his good morning s . He always impressed me with how hard he worked.
