“ *Jill and Charles,
My heart is with you guys, as I'm sure is the case of so many others who know you. A memory of Matthew when he was early grade school age....he and I made a little clay statue of a dog when he was at our home. Even then, his uniqueness and creativity were evident. I think of creativity as a spark from our Creator Father! I think of the wonder and delight that Matthew must be experiencing now in the presence of Jesus!*

When I was blind-sided by Richard's death (I call it graduation), a scripture was repeatedly put before my eyes....was a great help: "I will not fear [be locked into anxiety or panic] though the earth were to change, and the mountains be cast into the sea,.. " Life presents some big and unexpected changes - some suddenly - but the Lord holds you right on through this life journey,.....and onward to the destination that is MOST *Important. There will be a big family reunion in the future!
