Greatest man I ever knew, but I'd take my bud over these dang candles any day sometimes just reading all these messages that are wonderful that is the thought that comes to mind but one day I'll burn these candles down for myself and be up there with him!!! I love you bud with all my heart.*

“ Milton was a true friend. We was in training and each person was asked to share a memorable experience. The topic is one I will always remember. He told the story about a coin his father gave him when he was little. This coin was in his family for a long time. He told us that one day he would pass the coin on to his children. Even though the coin was small the value it had was worth more than anything you could remember. Mllton will be missed.
