“ Danny was an amazing brother. I remember watching him work on that blue Monte Carlo for dad and trying so hard to get that motor in. He bought the biggest watermelon I had ever seen. I also will always remember the souped-up riding lawn mower that he and Dewayne built. I never saw one with wheelie wheels in the back. Then there were those private chats between a brother and a sister that we shared out in the country night. He would always give the code... "I think I hear the dogs barkin" then it was our time to go outside. We'd goof around some then go back in and he would assure dad the dogs were just going nuts. I will really miss you big brother. I thank God for the brief time He gave us. I love you.

Danny was a good friend. We worked together for many years. He was a good lineman, and one of the best tree cutters I know. We always joked about lineman heaven. I know he's there, now.
